Autumn drawdown

The banks of the Gull River have been swallowed up by water being drained from the head lakes. The rush is on to reduce lake levels before trout begin to spawn.

by Andy Holloway

While Minden residents may be upset by the high water level of Gull River, trout spawn will thank them for it later.

Trent-Severn Waterway officials are trying to lower the levels of Haliburton area lakes and rivers to allow trout spawn the chance to survive the autumn season.

Mack Ellis, at the Haliburton waterway office, says the wetter than average summer has meant higher than average water levels. Ellis says the waterway authority was trying to keep "as much water in the Haliburton lake reservoir as possible" to safeguard against the possibility of future droughts.

Now, Ellis says workers are trying to bring down the water levels before the Thanksgiving weekend, the traditional trout spawning season.

"It will still leave us with better than average water levels at Thanksgiving, but it's getting rid of the surplus water, bringing it down to average," says Ellis.

Ellis says the level of water should be stabilized before Thanksgiving because trout like to spawn near the wave line and if levels drop or rise suddenly after they spawn, the year's crop will die.

In the week prior to September 14, the water level of Haliburton lakes declined only 2.2 per cent which means Gull River will probably continue to be swollen. A fast decline would be around the five per cent level.

However, the high level of the Gull River has been causing some problems for Minden. Rotary Park is completely underwater, a patch of North Water Street was flooded making it difficult to walk along the road and some residents have had their sump pumps working overtime. Navigation is also proving difficult as the Gull River rises closer to the bottom of the Minden bridge.

Ellis says the problems are really more of a nuisance and that they are being watched.

"We had a pretty good look around today (Thursday) and I see there's some aggravations, but I don't see any serious problems.

Ellis says the water levels in the Haliburton system are about 10 per cent higher than the average over the past 10 years, but still lower than levels in the spring.

"The timing is unusual, but the level isn't all that unusual," says Ellis.

Like just about everybody else, Ellis is hoping for a warm, dry spell which will make it easier to get rid of the surplus water. He says last Tuesday's rain storm filled some lakes by as much as seven centimeters while drainage removed only three centimeters.

Class sizes swell

Trustees concerned about falling quality of education

by Andy Holloway

Some board members are worried that the quality of education received by students in Haliburton is decreasing as enrollment increases.

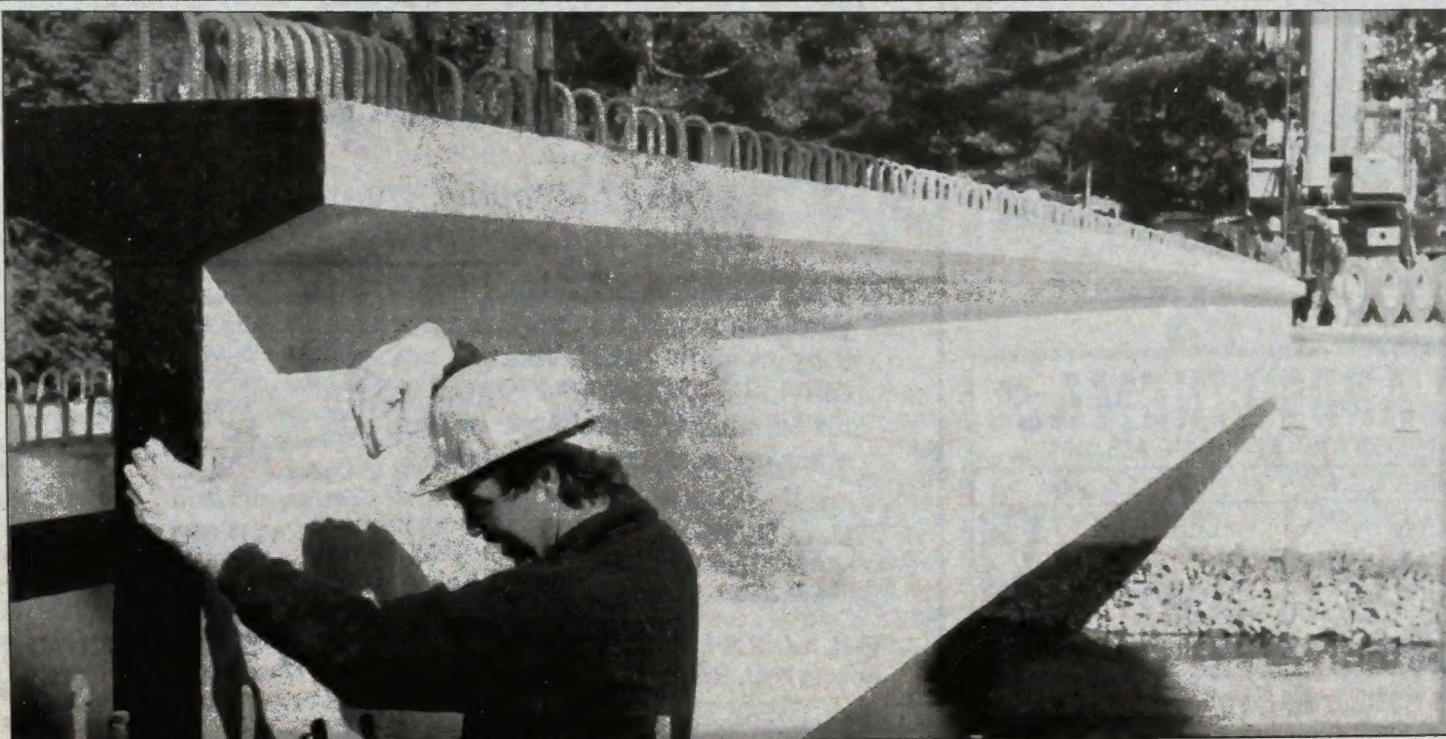

Despite increasing enrollment in the Haliburton school system, the number of teachers in county schools has gone down. As of September 15, enrollment stood at 2231, an increase of 92 over last year and 193 from two years ago. The number of teachers, however, has decreased from 150.7 two years ago to 148.6 (the percentage points represent part-time teachers).

"In terms of teacher-student ratios, we have slipped significantly," said Education Director Brad Saunders.

Saunders said at the elementary school level, there is one less teacher despite an extra 160 students over the previous two years.

The reduced number of teachers is a result of trying to keep the budget down said Saunders. Over the past two years, there has been a hiring freeze on so there have been no new teachers hired. Saunders said he was concerned about the increasing teacher-student ratios, but that the board has to try to "guar-

Enormous concrete girders were hoisted into place last week, spanning the head of the Beech River at Maple Lake. The five girders were hauled to the site on the back of trucks and swung out over the river by two huge cranes. These will eventually support the bridge which links North Shore Road to St. Peters' Church Road. Most of the operation was completed within a few hours.

Although it's flooded over Minden's Rotary Park is still an outstanding location to soak up the changing colours of the season. In fact the brilliant Autumn colours are heightened when coupled with their reflections in the water. Although they are well on their way, fall colours have not reached their peak.

Class sizes on the rise

Hiring freeze coupled with rising enrolment spells larger classes, less individual attention

antee the quality of education with controlled costs."

Teacher-student ratios include principals, vice-principals and special education teachers, but do not include teaching assistants. However, Superintendent of Education Dale Robinson said the number of teaching assistants has also remained the same - 25.

Two years ago, the board's elementary school system ranked ninth out of 78 public school boards in Ontario in terms of teacher-student ratios. Last year it slipped to 17th and this year it will probably slip further when the figures come out at the end of the month.

Saunders said the problem is most noticeable at Cardiff Elementary School where the number of students has increased from 94 to 124.5 and the number of staff has slipped from 8.5 to 7.9 over the past two years. Cardiff's principal Rosie Kenney requested that the school be allowed to hire an additional teacher on a 0.6 timetable which would bring staff levels up to previous levels. The board approved the motion, but the teacher-student ratio will still be higher than last year.

Business Administrator Jim Bradley said the effect on this year's budget would be negligible because as the number of students go up so does the provincial grant level. Therefore, hiring an additional teacher for the extra students would be covered by the provincial government.

The number of students attending area schools has even surpassed the board's predictions. Currently, there are over 50 extra students in the system that were not counted on last June when projections were made. the board was told that some of the high school students will drop out before September 30, when provincial grants are decided.

Every school has experienced an increase in enrollment with the exception of Victoria Street Elementary School which dropped 26 students from last year. The largest increase was experienced by Archie Stouffer which has gained 33.5 students so far.

One man's junk . .

. . . is another man's treasure. Gord Lyddiatt has been ordered to remove all farm implements, refuse, salvage, scrap metal, tires, appliances, concrete and derelict vehicles from his property on Hamilton Road in Snowdon Township. The court order also includes a variety of antique farm implements which are attractively displayed along the road. Beyond the fence is a work area, where Lyddiatt has several vehicles, as well as appliances and a wide variety of items stored for future use at Silver Birches Resort. View of this work area is blocked on the other three sides by thick woods. The clean-up was ordered after years of wrangling with the township and the local cottagers association. The court order also allows Lyddiatt to continue to operate a motor vehicle impound yard, where he can store up to six vehicles for up to four days.

HHSS 'Gold Card' gets mixed grades

by Oliver Greer

Not everyone on last year's student council at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School is in agreement about this year's new fund raising concept, the Gold Card.

The creator of the new Gold Card being offered to students by the Student Activity Council has high hopes for its success. Last year's student council vice-president, however, foresees some problems.

Colin Sisson, last year's student council president, says the card can only help student council and the student body.

The students at HHSS who choose to pay $50 for the card get, among other advantages, half-price admission to dances, a free yearbook, up to $25 of free Carnival Day activities and a free prom ticket. Sisson says if a student takes advantage of all the activities offered they will be getting much more than their money's worth.

This year, the Ministry of Education passed a regulation stating that students could no longer be charged a student activity fee at the beginning of the school year. This poses a serious problem for the student council at HHSS. The activity fee supplies council with money at the start of the year until their various fund raising activities are put into action.

The Gold Card offers a solution to this problem, says Sisson. The money from card sales should be more than adequate to fund council activities for the first part of the year.

A free yearbook is also part of the package offered by the card. Sisson says this will make it much easier for the yearbook staff to forecast the number of books needed and therefore avoid a shortage or surplus of books.

Sisson says the card should also increase attendance at the school's annual Carnival Day. If the carnival day activities are already paid for through the card, Sisson says students would be much more likely to attend.

Finally, Sisson says the card would help to streamline the inflow of cash to student council. Instead of having money flowing in from many different events such as dances, yearbook sales and carnival day fees, much of the money would be coming from a single source.

It will not be mandatory for students to purchase a card and all activities offered through the card will still be open to students who choose not to purchase one.

Last year's student council vice-president, Doug Craigmyle, holds a different view of the card.

Craigmyle says by receiving most of their funds at the beginning of the year, the council is making budgeting of their funds a much harder job.

"It's a lot easier to spend money you have than money you're going to have," says Craigmyle. He then went on to explain that in previous years if the council overran its budget for a month it could count on receiving a sum of money from that month's dance to pay their debts.

With the new system, the amount received each month will be greatly reduced and if budget overruns are taken out of the money from the card sales then there will be a cash shortage at the end of the year. Craigmyle says this would cause events such as the prom to suffer.

As far as students are concerned, Craigmyle says it is easier to come up with five dollars a month for a dance, the price of a yearbook once a year if the student wishes to buy one, plus the prom and carnival day if the student decides to attend, than a large lump sum such as the $50 price tag the Gold Card carries.

Craigmyle also says if a student does not take advantage of all the activities the card offers then the benefits will be minor, if any.

School board allows students to transfer

by Andy Holloway

Local students who want to switch schools within the county will now be allowed to do so, but only for "compassionate reasons" or when it is deemed necessary.

The Haliburton County Board of Education voted to allow students to switch schools if space in the school is available and if there is no additional transportation cost to the board.

Education director Brad Saunders said the change in policy allows students to continue their education at the same school with their friends and avoid the upheaval of switching schools at an early age.

"If it's avoidable and does not cost more money to the board then we shouldn't try to artificially interrupt a child's education," said Saunders.

The decision to allow a student to transfer would be made exclusively by Saunders. If a family does not agree with Saunders' decision then it can appeal directly to the board of education.

The new policy allows students to continue their education at their old school if the family moves to a different area in Haliburton. Formerly, if a family moved, for example, from Minden to Haliburton then a child attending Archie Stouffer Elementary school would be expected to attend J.D. Hodgson Elementary School. Now, that child could be allowed to continue at Archie Stouffer until graduation if it is in the best interests of the child.

The former policy only allowed exceptions for students who moved during the school year or for those students who had special needs which could only be met by a certain school.

Saunders said if the system is not abused then it will be beneficial for students and their families.

Curling season's almost here.

School board wants destreaming delayed until funds are available

by Andy Holloway

Haliburton's board of education wants the government to postpone destreaming until the education ministry provides "adequate funding" for the changes.

Currently, students choose what program level, basic, general or advanced, they will enter at high school for their grade nine year. Destreaming will push that decision until at least grade 10.

The government plan allows schools to phase in destreaming over a three-year period with the first year starting September, 1993. Despite the fact the government is mandating destreaming for all high schools, the board's education committee recommended the board support the position of the Oxford County education board that destreaming be postponed until the government funds the changes.

Superintendent of Education Dale Robinson said there are no final figures on how much destreaming will cost, but that the board will be eligible for a possible $5,000 provincial government grant. However, he said there are no plans in place for the government to cover costs above and beyond that level.

Cardiff trustee Lloyd Griffiths said pilot schools dealing with destreaming have found that extra teaching staff had to be hired.

"One of the extra costs that will come up, as sure as God's apples on the trees, is for staffing," said Griffiths who chairs the education committee.

Education director Brad Saunders said one of the main reasons for destreaming is to prevent students from being labelled at an early age. Destreaming may encourage some students to stay in school longer said Saunders who also pointed out that not implementing ministry policy would probably affect the board's grant money. The government is responsible for 28 per cent of the money received by the board.

Dysart trustee Leonard Salvatori said destreaming might not be the answer, but neither is the current situation. Salvatori said a 30 per cent drop-out rate in some areas of Toronto proves the system is not working.

"For grades seven, eight and nine, there has to be something to keep them interested in school," said Salvatori.

Robinson said half of the classes at Haliburton Highlands are already destreamed. Subjects like physical education, art and business courses are already only offered at one level - general. He said the big hurdle will be in the math and science areas where there are large differences in skill levels for students. Teachers will have to keep the challenge level high for bright students while also making sure the other students do not get left behind.

Robinson said the board will have to keep planning for destreaming even if the government does not come through with more money.

"We've got to comply with the law and at the same time maintain a measure of common sense. We have to keep preparing for destreaming because I think we'll have to do it," said Robinson.

What's your number?

After all the time and trouble that went into the creation of a street numbering system in Minden, it's still not fully implemented.

Minden's Reeve expressed disappointment in the acceptance of this project during last Thursday's council meeting. "It's sparsely used," he said. "Some people don't want to do their part."

The numbering system is expected to be a benefit to emergency services, such as ambulance and firefighters. However, unless residents take the time to place a number on the front of their home or business, the benefits are minimal.

Reeve Bern Berry suggested that this matter be addressed in the next issue of "Council Report", a column which is written for the local media.

Anyone who wants to find out their street number can contact the municipal office in Minden.

Lost in the undergrowth, Marjorie Cowen is dwarfed by the prodigious growth of her sunflowers this year. In a bed in the front yard of her North Shore Road home, Marjorie's sunflowers shot up to over eight and a half feet. One plant in the group measured in at nine feet, three inches making it one of the tallest sunflower plants ever to be grown in the county. She says this year's crop of sunflowers, grown from a packet of store-bought seeds, did not receive any different treatment than she usually provides for her plants. "We just put the seeds in the ground and let them go," Marjorie commented.

Waste Reduction Week It's time for action on management

submitted by Debbie Hilkers

As chairperson of your Public Liaison Committee for the Waste Management Master Plan, I would like to bring to you attention that this week has been declared as waste reduction week across the province. This designation was created in order to raise public awareness of how many little things we can do on a daily basis to cure us of the crippling disease known as CGOS (Chronic Garbage Overload Syndrome). CGOS leads to a breakdown of our natural environment and a systematic poisoning that leads to death. As with all diseases, an immediate diagnosis and then the necessary steps to restore health is imperative.

There are some municipalities whose disease is reaching chronic proportions and steps must be taken immediately. The only way for the county to return to a healthy state is for all the parts of its body to work together.

At this point in time, the PLC has been put on hold until the county's steering committee decides what it will do with the waste management master plan. Therefore the PLC's activities for Waste Reduction Week are limited to the placing of posters and articles.

The master plan is a study meant to provide an appropriate waste management system based on regulations. These regulations are to provide environmentally safe waste management operations to ensure a future for us all.

In the past, there have been misconceptions and an appalling lack of interest and support for both the public and elected officials, despite the many meetings set up to address concerns. The study is set up to produce results, appropriate for the county. This can only occur if input is received from all sectors.

The following is an excerpt from a letter received by the firm hired to conduct the study. It explains what needs to be considered as part of the decision making process in order to take the master plan off the shelf and get serious about solving our growing waste problems.

"The county should consider assuming current municipal landfill operations, including recycling, as provided for in Bill 201. This bill allows the county to pass a bylaw to assume any or all of the waste management powers (collection, removal, disposal, treatment, storage, processing, transfer reduction, reuse, recovery, or recycling of waste) for all local municipalities forming part of the county. This would provide for cost effective waste management, through economy of scale, and consistency of services throughout the county. I feel that this could be done in parallel with the WMMP and at the same time would streamline the plan's development approval.

"In summary, I believe that solid waste management is an infrastructure that is a more costly operation when performed at the municipal level than at the county level. As well, I believe that with a concerted effort by the public and its elected officials to identify the true constraints and opportunities for waste management in Haliburton County that a cost-effective and appropriate solution can be identified and implemented."

Calendar a D-

Our school board is a walking nightmare when it comes to public relations. The harder it tries to present a positive image, the more it resembles a bureaucracy bent on spending money on frivolous ventures.

In most respects, the school board is wisely managing our tax contributions, stretching the limited funds as far as they can go. However, there are a few glaring exceptions of waste that have drawn public attention and scorn. And it's not only the trustees who are being forced to answer for this thriftlessness. For reasons beyond imagination, teachers have been drawn into the fray.

The board's latest attempt at public relations is the new "school calendar." It's an 8.5-by-11 inch sheet of glossy paper which lists holidays, professional development days and examination days. Granted, this is all valuable information. However, most of the $3,200 price tag for this gem can be attributed to the board's desire to have it printed in full colour on high quality paper. Last year it cost the board $1,400 to produce a 12-page pamphlet which included this information and a students' code of ethics - and it was printed locally.

In relation to the board's annual budget, the cost of this year's calendar is a pittance. However, we must also consider other ramifications. This attempt to present a positive image of our school system is a sorry failure. Firstly, it falsely portrays the board as being frivolous. Secondly, it has generated resentment toward teachers for shopping outside the county. (It was the board, not the teachers, who took their business out of the county).

And finally, there's nothing classy about the calendar - the colourful toy bus on the cover says nothing about quality education and heaps about the dismal reality of spending hours each day travelling to and from school.

Exploring the dubious world of factoids

I thought I'd drop a new word on you today. Actually, it's not brand new, but it is young. No more than a teenager. Spawned, as near as anyone can figure, in the festering slime bog within spitting distance of Washington's Capitol Hill, back in the mid-70's.

The word is factoid. It is so new that a lot of dictionaries don't yet list it. But, if you find one that does, it'll say something like this:

fac-toid (fak'toid) n. something fictitious or unsubstantiated that is presented as fact and accepted because of constant repetition.

Yup, that's the factoid alright. You hear all kinds of factoids in sports—you know the ones I mean.

You are watching a duller than average Blue Jays game

Black 'n White

by Arthur Black

on TV. No score, bottom of the third, Kelly Gruber's at the plate. Suddenly, the colour commentator murmurs, "Y'know Don, it's interesting to realize that over his career, Gruber's got himself on base eighty-seven point five percent of the time, when facing a left handed pitcher chewing tobacco in the second half of the third inning..."

Scaremongers love to throw factoids around too. "Canadians," someone will intone ominously, drink enough beer a year to fill 312 Olympic swimming pools."

Or, "If all the cigarettes smoked from 1979 to 1992 by North American females between the ages of 13 and 63 were laid end-to-end, they would reach from Vancouver to St. John's and back to Trois Rivières, Quebec."

The factoid has great appeal to public relations flacks, politicians and hog-lazy journalists. For one thing it usually provides a colourful visual image (can't you just picture some bean counter from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics carefully laying out a trail of Rothmans from Vancouver to Newfoundland and half way back again?).

For another thing, the factoid is almost always original.

Report from Ottawa

from the office of Bill Scott, MP

It's time to stop bickering

The progress that has been achieved in the Canada Round of Talks has been nothing less than remarkable, and is eloquent testimony to the commitment to a strong and united Canada all premiers and aboriginal leaders share.

In these talks, first ministers and aboriginal and territorial leaders sought to resolve a multitude of problems, and the scope of the multilateral consensus achieved in Charlottetown reflects this fact.

For many years it has been clear that many of our institutions need to be modernized, and that the interminable federal-provincial bickering over jurisdiction was sapping our resources and distracting governments from the important task of building a more prosperous future.

Our tendency in the past was to ignore these pressures, to postpone action, to sweep real problems under the carpet. When we did decide to take on issues, we did so in slices, and often failed. We did that in 1982 when we brought home the constitution, but did so without the agreement of the province or the people of Quebec. We did that in the 1980s through four unsuccessful meetings among first ministers and the aboriginal leaders of Canada. And we did that in 1990 when Meech failed, when Quebec felt rejected, when the rest of the country condemned a process they felt left them out. The country simply can not survive another failure and we can not postpone reform any longer. The status quo is no alternative. The costs of standing still are high. High in anger, in justice and in dollars.

Canadians want this settled now; talks go on interminably. While everyone else has been building, we've been bickering. While others have focused on the future and its potential, we have been riveted to the past old grievances.

The package of proposals we are putting forward for

Kudos for firefighters

ED NOTE: The following letter was sent to the Mr. Ralph Watson of the Wilberforce Fire Department:

Dear Mr. Watson:

We would like to thank all the members of the Wilberforce Fire Department involved for their capable and very willing assistance to our staff, with regard to the accident at Highway 648 in Wilberforce on Friday September 11.

You certainly have a staff of which you can be very proud and we are indeed fortunate that Haliburton County has such well-trained and efficient individuals ready to assist.

Thank you again for your assistance.

Hats off to Br. 636

Editor:

Last Sunday, following the Cemetery Decoration Service which was sponsored by the Minden Legion Branch 636 and the Ladies Auxiliary to Branch 636, I had the opportunity to enter their building. I was pleasantly surprised with their new, attractive, very safe and accessible ramp. I love to see action taken when a need is recognized.

On behalf of all the physically challenged, I wish to commend these folks.

Hats off to Branch 636.

Going down the road

As the global economy sputters on in a prolonged recession, people are demanding that leaders find a road to economic recovery by creating more jobs and greater global competitiveness. It provides an opportunity to rethink the cherished economic and ecological beliefs and priorities. Consider the car.

In the United States, the personal automobile ranks with mom and apple pie as a national icon. The American love affair with cars is legendary. In 1990, there were 190 million registered vehicles in the United States, 23 million more than the number of licenced drivers.

The average American drives or rides cars or light trucks over 12,000 kilometres a year, almost double the distance of most other industrialized nations. Americans use cars for 82 percent of their trips compared with 48 percent by the French, 45 percent by the English and 42 percent by the Danes.

But today we know the convenience and benefits of the car must be weighed against their accompanying cost of pollution, greenhouse gas production, accidents and land degradation.

The rhetoric of the current presidential campaign suggests that taxpayers would revolt at any tax increase in the cost of gas. Yet that is precisely what must be done if the drivers are to pay the real cost of their vehicle according to a report of the World Resources Institute. Entitled, "The Going Rate: What it really costs to drive", the study argues compellingly that the social and ecological costs of cars are exacerbated by massive hidden subsidies.

The WRI report begins provocatively by suggesting that poor public transit service in the U.S., polluted air in spite of tighter emission controls, traffic jams, even with extensive road building, greater dependence on foreign oil and inefficient cars can be explained in large part because "operating private motor vehicles in the United States today is deeply subsidized and we do it to excess."

The authors back their claim with a detailed breakdown and analysis of the cost of our car habit but not normally charged to the driver. The numbers are staggering and lead to the conclusion that drivers do not pay anywhere near the full cost of supporting their habit.

For example, $68 billion of subsidy is spent annually for highway patrols, traffic management, parking enforcement, accident response teams, police work on accidents, etc. Of $33.3 billion spent on building, improving and repairing road in 1989, 60 percent came from gas taxes and other user fees, the rest was carried by the public.

Car-generated air pollution degrades human health, causes premature death and reduces crop yields. Those public expenses are conservatively estimated at $10 billion. Last year's Gulf War revealed the importance of Middle East oil to the American Economy.

The U.S. imports 45 percent of its oil and only the transportation sector increased oil consumption since the Arab oil embargo in 1973. Half of all U.S. imported oil is used in cars, so $50 billion (half the cost of the military activity in the Middle East) is spent on drivers' behalf.

The U.S. is the major generator of greenhouse gases and motor vehicles contribute about a quarter of all American carbon dioxide emissions.

The economic repercussions of global warming and the cost of reducing emissions will be immense. More tangible is the price of accidents.

In 1988, 14.8 million motor vehicle accidents caused 47,000 deaths and five million injuries in the U.S. The Federal Highway Administration put the total social costs at $358 billion, of which and estimated $55 billion are not borne by drivers.

Shopping centres encourage car use by offering free parking which is then paid for by all shoppers. Eighty-six percent of all Americans drive to work and 90 percent of them park for free.

Thus, "someone pays the $85 billion annual tab for parking, but it is not the driver." All of this merely encourages "solo" driving instead of car pooling or public transit.

This is a monumental study that attempts to estimate the extent and cost of all congestion and traffic delay, global warming, noise, land loss, etc. In all, the report suggests a whopping $300 billion of motor vehicles costs should be charged directly to the users but are not. That's more than 5 percent of the GNP.

There are many ways to encourage alternatives to cars, increase efficiency and reduce ecological damage. But the most obvious is an increase in the tax on fuel of "well over $2 per gallon" which would still put the cost of gas in the U.S. below many nations such as Holland, France, Sweden and Italy.

The study forces us to recognize the tight interconnectedness of the economy and environment and the destructiveness of conventional economic practices of hidden subsidies that encourage inefficient and excessive use of the automobile. Car loving Canadians can draw similar lessons.

Cigarettes into kilometres, beer into pools

What other idiot would waste his time converting cigarettes into kilometres or beer bottles into swimming pools?

But the most delicious attribute of the factoid is that it is virtually uncheckable. You think anyone is going to sit down and verify Kelly Gruber's lifetime at-bats against cud chewing left-handers? Or how many bottles of Molson's Ex it takes to fill 312 swimming pools? Not Likely.

But not impossible either.

Last year a Pittsburgh public relations firm issued a press release claiming that the average American, in the course of 73.5 year lifetime, spent seven full years in the bathroom.

The New York Times duly reported the 'statistic'. As did the Wall Street Journal, USA Today and who knows how many lesser journals. Only one publication--Spy Magazine--said "Say, what?" and embarked on a little factoid checking. The people at Spy calculated that the average American would have to spend two hours and 20 minutes in the little room every day, seven days a week.

Which is a tad ridiculous. Even for those who like to read in there.

Ah, but that's the problem when you start tossing figures around as arguments. Many's the sailor who's drowned in a stream only six inches deep--on average.

Eventually, statistics merely mystify and confuse. The wife of Senator Robert Taft once said, "The only statistic I can remember is that if all the people who go to sleep in church were laid end to end, they'd be a lot more comfortable."

School board on budget, repairs go ahead

by Andy Holloway

The Haliburton Board of Education is actually ahead of its budget and will spend some of the extra money on improving area schools.

Business Administrator Jim Bradley said the board is currently running a $75,000 surplus on its contingency maintenance budget. Contingency maintenance is for emergency areas of repairs. For example, had the twister which touched down in Guilford last weekend damaged a school, the money would come from the contingency budget.

In the board's original budget, maintenance was one of the areas that was heavily cut despite fears the schools' infrastructure would suffer if repairs were ignored. However, Bradley told board members that for whatever reason, luck or a good past repair record, the board has spent less than expected. He proposed that the board spend about $40,000 of the money to fix some of the problems at three schools which had been delayed because of budget constraints. $30,000 would be kept in reserve for emergencies.

Bradley said three exit doors which are being used at Gooderham Elementary School were not designed for regular use and need repairs. The estimated cost would be about $1,000 per door.

J.D. Hodgson Elementary School has an oil tank buried on its property which should be removed before it causes possible problems in the future. The estimated cost of the project is expected to be about $4,000.

The remainder would be spent on installing new windows on four or five classrooms at Cardiff Elementary School. Bradley said windows also need replacing at Archie Stouffer and the high school, but that Cardiff was the worst off.

Two trustees voted against the proposal because it had not gone through the management committee for study first, as is regular board policy. Bradley said he wanted to get started on the repairs as soon as possible and before the winter starts.

Education Notes

Building national pride

The following brief items were discussed at the monthly Board of Education meeting last Tuesday.

by Andy Holloway

O Canada

In the near future, elementary students could be praising Canada as part of their morning ceremonies. The board of education endorsed the idea of having students recite a Canadian Pledge.

Cardiff trustee Lloyd Griffiths said having students recite a Canadian Pledge would be worthwhile because it says something positive about Canada.

"You wonder whether something like this will do any good," said Griffiths. "But we have got to have something that means something about Canada other than the politicians."

The board voted unanimously for the resolution, despite the fact the Canadian Pledge has not been created yet.

Now boarding...

An express bus route from the Cardiff area to Haliburton Highlands secondary School will be on the road. The board approved the idea after hearing that eight students would be using the service. Only six students are needed to break even on the route.

Business administrator Jim Bradley said it would cost the board $35,000 to transport the students using figures from the existing transportation contract. The new route will be tendered out to the public transportation companies.

Bradley said by having the express route not meet up with a bus in Harcourt Park a significant amount of time, 15 to 30 minutes, could be saved off a student's travelling time.

As well, the board will consider implementing a late bus service to the centre of Wilberforce in order to allow Cardiff area students the same opportunities to participate in extra-curricular activities that other students have.

The bus plans are part of an ongoing effort to attract students from the Cardiff area who would otherwise attend Hastings secondary School in Bancroft.

"We want to treat the south-east corner of Haliburton County just as well as all the rest of Haliburton County and hopefully do it without any increase in costs," said Cardiff trustee Lloyd Griffiths.

Stouffer expansion

A sketch plan for the proposed addition of Archie Stouffer Elementary School has been approved by the board. The plan consists of a centrally located gymnasium with two new classroom wings.

The projected cost of the addition is about $2.9 million and has been in the planning stages for several years. However, the sketch is still in its opening phase. Only the general concept of having two wings project diagonally away from the north side of the present building has been approved. Final details like the size of classrooms and location of washrooms have yet to be decided.

No gambling

The board endorsed a resolution opposing the establishment of gambling casinos in Ontario. The proposal to have casinos in the province is currently being looked at as a way to raise money by the cash-strapped NDP government.

Education committee chairman Lloyd Griffiths said the committee recommended the board endorse the resolution started by the Scarborough Board of Education because there are enough ways for people to gamble legally now.

"In every phase of our society gambling is prevalent," said Griffiths. "It may not do any good, but at least we can stand up and say something against it."

However, the vote to endorse the resolution was not unanimous as only six trustees voted yes with five opposed and the rest abstained.

Among those on the 'no' side was Sherborne trustee John Munro who said the resolution was hypocritical.

"Personally, I'm not in favour of casinos, but on the other hand I think we're being hypocritical as a board when we have not taken a stand against lottery tickets."

Minden trustee Wally Bunn said he had voted against the resolution at the education committee meeting because there has been some good come out of the lottery system, with proceeds going to various charitable groups in the province, and there could be similar benefits come out of the casinos.

MPP's promise offers no comfort

Despite assurances that the Minden Hospital will not be closed, Minden council is worried about the future of this facility.

Victoria-Haliburton MPP Dennis Drainville last week offered assurance that the Ministry of Health does not intend to close the hospital. However, Reeve Bern Berry says there are still no guarantees that the current level of service will be maintained.

Berry recently received three letters from local resident who expressed their concerns about any plans to close the hospital. In response, Berry said Thursday that there is still a danger of it being closed or of a reduction in service.

Councillor Jean Anthon echoed Berry's sentiments. She said she is not comforted by Drainville's assurances. "There's a false sense of security built into his response."

Councillor Lewis Stevens said it is up to area residents to keep the issue in the spotlight. People should be writing to Drainville and the Minister of Health and saying they are not willing to accept any reduction in services.

Council concluded that another letter should be written to the minister with a copy to Drainville. The letter will indicate that council feels the level of service must be maintained. The township will also be approaching the St. Joseph's Hospital board to see if anything can be done co-operatively.

Storm's signature

Twisted trees and downed wires provide graphic evidence of the force of the storm which roared through West Guilford September 19. Most of the damage was confined to an area behind the Guilford Boy Gift Shoppe, although a number of large pines at the community's ball diamond were also uprooted.

No one left out of the package consideration results from the broad consensus achieved during the multilateral meetings and First Ministers Conferences of the past months. They are an expression of the collective vision of Canadians.

The decision to proceed with a national referendum was one not taken lightly. The risks are real and there is always the possibility that single-issue concerns will dominate the debate. It is therefore crucial that Canadians understand that the consensus agreement they are being asked to consider is a coherent whole. It is a carefully constructed document that reflects the spirit of honourable compromise - one of the hallmarks of our national identity. Remove one of the pieces and the entire structure becomes unstable; remove another and it is likely to crumble. Nobody got everything they asked for, but then again, neither was anybody left out in the cold.

Not everyone will like everything that has been agreed to when topics as diverse as aboriginal self-government, Senate reform, recognition of Quebec as a distinct society, a new division of powers, a stronger economic and social union, a Canada Clause and so on, are being discussed. But the Constitutional table isn't a buffet table, where you can pick and choose the things you like and ignore everything else. The deal is a package deal worked out by the leaders of the ten provincial governments, the federal government and aboriginal leaders. I'm confident Canadians will agree the consensus achieved is infinitely better than the status quo or the alternative of failure.

SAC plans an exciting year, so don't miss a beat

The Times is pleased to welcome HHSS student reporter Jenna Stutt to our pages. Jenna, an O.A.C. student, will be reporting on activities and personalities at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School throughout the year. She will be assisted by photographer Kerry Brezina.

As the students of Hal High get mentally prepared for yet another of their blissful years in high school, the Student's Activity Council (SAC) has already planned out most of the entertainment for the year. This year's SAC is led by president Todd Jackson. Also serving on the executive are vice president Emily Henderson, secretary Amanda Woods, treasurer Sarah Lilius, social convenor Dawn Hebert, student advisor Shannon Stinson and promotional representative Jaime Kent.

From dances to barbecues the SAC covers it all, and this year is no exception. Along with all of their previously successful dances, this year's SAC has planned new and improved dances including a new company called Sight and Sound which will supply Hal High with a very exciting video dance. From what the executive of the SAC says, this will be quite a show. Other companies, which were very successful last year and will be returning, are Future Flash, a laser and lights show that was absolutely incredible, and of course, the well known and very popular Much Music Video Dance Party.

If that's not enough, the SAC will be ordering some new HHSS clothing, including personalized leather banded baseball hats and new sweatshirts.

Along with these, the SAC is introducing a new school card called the "Gold" card which will cost each student $50.00, if they choose to purchase it. This card will entitle the student to admission to dances at half price, a free year-book, a free prom ticket and up to $25 off their Carnival Day fees. This is a pretty impressive deal for students. It will allow them to save money for college/university or an upcoming SAC promotion, the annual chocolate bar sales.

This year there are two types of chocolate bars, caramel and almond bars, and each student will be asked to help sell them for $2 each. They will be given to the students in October and the three top sellers will receive prizes which should make all the hard work worthwhile.

Even as I sat and interviewed these students, ideas were flying around the room about future plans for the school and the students. This promises to be an exciting year at HHSS so don't miss a beat. I won't!

The SAC's Promotional Representative, Jaime Kent, is in the hospital with a broken leg. We at Hal High wish Jaime a quick recovery and hope to see her back in the halls really

Defending champs: Redmen have their work cut out for them

by Andy Holloway

With two games gone in the Kawartha West football season, both Haliburton Redmen head coaches say things are looking up for their squads.

The junior Redmen are looking to defend their Central Ontario championship this year, a task head coach Gary Brohman says will be tough.

"Realistically, we will have trouble repeating as COSSA champs, but I hope to win the league and then we'll see where the ball bounces."

"The key to another championship team is the group of second-year players who are all starters this year when last year none of them were starters," says Brohman.

However, whether or not the Redmen repeat as champs will depend a large part on the running abilities of tailback Peter Brohman. Brohman single-handedly destroyed Lindsay Collegiate in the first half two weeks ago. Coach Brohman says he is looking for big things from the younger Brohman.

"We're led by Peter Brohman who should be, with his size and speed, the premier player in the league."

Brohman will also be depending on two players to allow the running game to operate smoothly. Offensive tackle Mark Stamp is a two-way lineman who will make the blocks for Brohman and company while first-time quarterback Sam Little will key the offence. Little was forced into playing quarterback this year because last year's quarterback Kevin

Close but no cigar. The Hustlers just couldn't find the bats they needed Thursday when they lost to Fenelon in the finals

Ball season's over Hutton blanks Hustlers with two hitter

by Andy Holloway

Baseball season in Minden is finally over.

The Minden Rockcliffe Hustlers were knocked out of the Tri-County finals after Fenelon Falls, backed by the strong arm of Jeff Hutton, pounded them 7-1 last Thursday.

Hutton, as he has done all season, stymied the Hustlers giving up just two hits, both of them singles, while striking out 12 of the 28 batters he faced.

What was worse for the Hustlers is that once Fenelon grabbed a solid lead after the fourth inning, the temperature cooled down and Hutton heated up making hitting next to impossible.

The Hustlers were also victimized by their own poor fielding. Hustler manager Dave Dollo says the long layoff between series may have been one reason why his team was a little rusty on the field and at the plate.

While the Hustlers sat on the sidelines after disposing of Lindsay in the semi-finals, Fenelon and Bobcaygeon were battling it out against each other in the other series and as a combined team in the All-Ontario Softball play-offs. Since the season ended on August 12, the Hustlers have played only five times.

An omen of what was to come saw the Hustlers allow three pop-ups to drop harm-

The team to beat

Redmen run out of steam but coast to 2-1 victories

The Haliburton Highlands Redmen senior soccer team is looking more and more like the team to beat this year in the Kawartha West division.

Last Wednesday, the Redmen visited Lindsay to take on the Spartans of LCVI and came up with a tense 2-1 victory. Redmen coach Walter Tose says the Spartans are usually the team to beat. He was pleased with his team's win, but not with their stamina.

"They played very well in the first half and they dominated the play, but in the second half we seemed to run out of steam," says Tose. "I think we have to work on our conditioning as we kind of fell back in on ourselves."

The Redmen's Ritchie Mills opened the scoring with about 10 minutes gone in the first half on a corner kick. In actual fact, the goal went in off a Spartan player, but Mills got credit for the goal.

Nico Haedicke scored the second Redmen goal about two-thirds through the half. Haedicke has now scored two goals this season to tie for the team lead with Darren Parsons and Bill Bradley.

The Redmen are now 2-0 and sitting in first place.

The junior Redmen squad evened their record at 1-1 as they also beat the Spartans 2-1. Tose reports that the juniors played much better than they did last week when they were 4-1 losers at home to I.E. Weldon.

As with the seniors, Tose says the juniors dominated the first half before hanging on for the win in the second half. The Redmen scored first, but the Spartans scored late in the first half to tie the game up and put the pressure on the Redmen.

While much of the play in the second half was in the Redmen end, The Redmen were the ones who scored the game breaker. Jamie Tavares got a breakaway with about five minutes to go and made no mistake putting the ball behind the keeper.

The two Redmen soccer teams go into action on Wednesday at home with a pair of games against Fenelon Falls. The seniors hit the field first at 2:30 p.m.

Wildcats, or pussycats?

Redmen thrill hometown crowd with back-to-back thrashings of Lindsay's Wildcats.

by Andy Holloway

The I.E. Weldon Wildcats looked more like pussy cats last Friday as they were tamed by both senior and junior Haliburton Highlands Redmen football teams.

The annual Red and White game proved to be just that as the senior Redmen overwhelmed the Wildcats 48-0 before about 150 spectators. The junior Redmen took the second part of the doubleheader 18-0.

The seniors set the tone early in the afternoon by scoring on their first possession. Tailback Andy Bacon capped off an impressive drive with a 20 yard touchdown run. The convert failed, but the Redmen were up 6-0 and had all the points they would need for their second victory of the season.

The Redmen soon went up 12-0 after Bacon's running mate Endres Weber powered across the goal line from 10 yards out. Weber had set up his touchdown run with a long gallop that crisscrossed the field. Once again, the convert failed as did a later field goal attempt.

Before the first half was through, Weber scored his second touchdown of the day on a 21 yard run to put the Redmen up 20-0 at the half.

The second half did not get any better for the toothless Wildcats. The Redmen piled up 28 more points including touchdown runs by Peter Van Leeuwen, Jay Hughes and Weber.

Despite the lopsided score, Coach Tim Davies was not happy with the play of his troops in the first half. Davies says the Redmen should have dominated the whole game like they did in the second half.

On the positive side, Davies says the defence deserved a lot of credit for keeping the Wildcats out of the game.

"We controlled the play for the most part defensively. It's hard to single anyone out because we seemed to have the ball most of the time," says Davies.

However, with 48 points on the board, it is obvious the offence did its job as well.

"Our quarterback Jay Hughes called another great game. He read the defence well and took what they gave us."

Davies added that Van Leeuwen did a great job of filling in for fullback Craig Harding and the running tandem of Weber and Bacon had another strong game.

Unfortunately for the Redmen, Davies also says the team needs a little work on its special teams which can only mean tougher practices for the senior squad this week.

Defence was the key in the junior match and the play was a lot more evenly matched than the score of 18-0 suggests.

"We scored 18 points, but our defence won the game for us," says coach Gary Brohman who singled out Brett Beach, Mike Hartwick and Aaron Tomlinson, in a two-way effort, as defensive stand-outs.

The difference, offensively, in this game was the running ability of tailback Peter Brohman who scored all three touchdowns and frustrated the Wildcats defence. The Wildcats, urged on by their coach, resorted to head hunting near the end of the game in an effort to get Brohman out of their hair, but did not succeed.

The first quarter was scoreless, but the Redmen came out strong in the second. The team drove to the Wildcats eight yard line before Brohman was stopped, a rare occurrence, on a third down gamble. However, a face-masking penalty gave the Redmen new life at the three yard line. Three running plays by Brohman later, the penalty paid off as he crashed over the line to make it 6-0. The Redmen had two tries to make the two-point convert, but failed each time.

Brohman put the Redmen up 12-0 late in the half with a 22 yard touchdown run. From that point on, it was a defensive struggle and while the Redmen squad bent, it did not break and the shut-out was preserved.

The icing on the cake occurred with less than three minutes left in the game. The Redmen recovered a fumble and three plays later, Brohman rumbled through the middle of the Wildcats defence for a 72 yard touchdown run. Brohman ended the game with over 200 yards rushing, much of it on his own as coach Brohman says the offensive line did not block all that well.

Sam Little, in just his second game as quarterback, looked more at home in the backfield and showed a nice touch on the few passing plays that were attempted.

Both Redmen teams now sit in first place in the Kawartha West division and neither has given up a touchdown. Last week, the seniors gave up just three points while the juniors held L.C.V.I. to one point.

The Redmen teams travel to Fenelon Falls on Friday for a pair of games.

Redmen boast impressive lineup

Morissette is playing hockey in Lindsay this year.

The number of players who came out for the junior Redmen team was impressive once again. Despite a smaller student population to draw from than the Lindsay schools they compete against, Brohman says the Redmen are stacked with players.

"Bruce Griffiths (assistant coach) and I are really pleased with the number of players who came out for the team. It says a lot about our school and means we can build for the future."

That future shows up on the senior Redmen who this year should benefit from a number of players making the jump from the COSSA winning juniors. Tim Davies who heads up the senior team this year says he is looking to the team's veterans to supply leadership and strength for the relatively young team.

"We're really led by a core of five fifth year returnees," says Davies listing Jay Hughes, Greg Brohman, Derek Wilson, Jerry Cooper and Chris Greenfield.

Perhaps the most important veteran is Hughes who is the team's quarterback. Having a five-year veteran as the pivot improves the "solidarity" of the team and gives the other players someone to look to when the battle heats up.

As well as the veterans, Davies is looking for big things to come from a pair of running backs.

"I'm really excited about the offensive backfield with the power running of Endres Weber and the sleek-footed quickness of Andy Bacon, who broke just about every record last year," says Davies.

On the defensive side of things, two pleasant surprises for coach Davies are defensive tackles Garwood Thomas and Brett Jackson who have proven their worth by helping the defence keep the opposing teams to a measly 3 points in the first two games.

Unexpected returnees for the team this year include defensive back Peter Van Leeuwen, nose guard Jim Hyde and fullback Craig Harding. The extra experience these three add to the squad should be a bonus.

This year's line-ups are as follows:

Senior Redmen

Junior Redmen

Bowlers try skills on the tees

On September 17, the annual lawn bowler's golf tournament was held at Beaverbrook Golf Course. Jack Harrington, Dalton Flatt, Lorraine King and Lee Oster were the winners of the tournament. The longest drive awards were won by Stan Hill and Chris Dollo. The closest to the hole awards went to Jack Harrington and Hazel Maxwell.

While some members were golfing, others played euchre and bridge at the club house. Kay Cannon won the high score for bridge. Dorothy Rowe was the winner for the ladies who played euchre and Muriel Harrington had the most lone hands. Neil Cartwright was the men's winner and Cecil Rowe had the most lone hands.

All the golfers and card players enjoyed the dinner that was served following the tournament.

lessly among them in the first inning. In each case, no one took the initiative to call off the other fielders and as a result no one caught the ball. Fenelon took advantage of the mistakes, and without getting a solidly hit ball, were up 1-0.

The Hustlers quickly struck back, as the Fenelon fielders also played 'boot-the-ball-around.' Lead-off batter Tim Davies managed to parlay his easy grounder into a run with the help of two throwing errors and two passed balls.

After the spills and more spills of the first inning, both Hustler pitcher Brian Shaw and Hutton settled down for the next two innings. Shaw struck out the side in the second while Hutton kept the Hustlers hitless.

However, a disastrous fourth inning proved to be the turning point of the game for the Hustlers. Fenelon loaded up the bases without getting the ball of out the infield - walk error and infield single - before Ian Maclean blooped a two-out single to centre scoring two runs. A third run was scored on a passed ball and the game was, for all intents and purposes, over.

At no point did the Hustlers come close to scoring another run although they did leave two men on base in their half of the fourth inning, but Hutton struck out the side. Hutton also struck out the side in the sixth and fittingly struck out Tim Davies, the only Hustler to score, to end the game and the year.

Fenelon pushed across three more runs in the seventh to make the score 7-1. Despite a rocky seventh inning, Shaw pitched a good game, striking out nine batters and allowing only one walk. However, poor fielding and timely hitting will overcome a decent pitching on most occasions.

The loss ended the Hustlers' hopes of winning the championship as the best-of-five final was scaled down to a best-of-three series because of the lateness of the season and the cold weather. Earlier in the week, the Hustlers were dropped 1-0 by Fenelon, a game in which manager Dollo says "We had our chances, but we didn't execute."

Despite the loss, the Hustlers have to be pleased with their season as they battled a number of injuries to finish in second place with a 9-7 record. After a rough start, Dollo says the team was coming along and won five of their last six games.

The team easily defeated Lindsay 3-1 in the semi-finals and then had to wait while Fenelon and Bobcaygeon finished their semi-final.

"Being second best isn't too bad," says Dollo. "Not as good as being the best, but..."

Minden tries again to return court sittings

Minden Council is taking another shot at convincing the province to resume regular provincial court hearings in Minden.

In spite of the frustrating delays in getting any sort of response from bureaucrats, council is writing to Attorney General Howard Hampton.

"I suggest we send a letter to Howard Hampton to sort this out," Bern Berry said at last Thursday's council meeting. "Let's find out where our courts will be."

The municipality has maintained continued correspondence with various agencies over the past six months with little response. In the mean time, most local court cases are being shipped to Lindsay.

Crime of the week

Between August 1 and September 22 several vehicles were stolen in Haliburton County and three were recovered here. Some of the thefts may be connected.

A 1987 silver Dodge Colt was stolen from Haliburton on August 2 and recovered in Winnipeg on August 16.

A 1989 black Dodge pick-up truck was stolen from Haliburton on September 1 and recovered near Cobocok on September 6.

A 1987 blue GMC Jimmy was stolen in Lutterworth Township on September 8 and recovered near Apsley on September 10.

A 1984 Dodge Ram was stolen from the West Guilford area on September 10 and recovered north of Toronto on September 11.

A 1984 GMC pick-up truck was stolen in the Gooderham area on September 20 and recovered near Madoc on September 22.

A 1986 Dodge Reliant stolen from Barrie was recovered on September 12 in Guilford Township.

A 1983 Pontiac Phoenix stolen from Madoc was recovered on September 19 in Lutterworth Township.

A 1983 Chevrolet Caprice stationwagon stolen in Halton Region was recovered on September 21 in Blairhampton.

If you have any information about this or any other crime, call Lindsay Crimestoppers at 1-800-563-TIPS. You will never be asked to reveal your identity or to testify in court. If your information leads to an arrest, Lindsay Crimestoppers will pay up to $1,000 in cash.

THE NEW CONSTITUTIONAL AGREEMENT

HIGHLIGHTS

Over the past two years, federal, provincial and Aboriginal leaders have consulted with thousands of Canadians and special interest groups from coast to coast. These consultations included Royal Commissions, participatory conferences, parliamentary hearings, and hearings in the provinces and territories held by provincial and territorial legislatures. Federal, provincial, territorial and Aboriginal leaders have agreed unanimously on a package of constitutional proposals that recognizes the equality of all Canadians and represents all of our interests. The agreement is now before Canadians.

A Social and Economic Union

The agreement proposes that the new Constitution would contain a statement of key economic and social objectives shared by all of the governments in the federation. The objectives include comprehensive, universal, portable, accessible and publicly administered health care, adequate social services and benefits, high quality primary and secondary education and reasonable access to post-secondary education, collective bargaining rights and a commitment to protecting the environment. The economic policy objectives to be entrenched would be aimed at strengthening the Canadian economic union; the free movement of persons, goods, services, and capital; ensuring full employment and a reasonable standard of living for all Canadians; ensuring sustainable and equitable development.

Exclusive provincial jurisdiction would be recognized in the areas of forestry, mining, tourism, housing, recreation, municipal affairs, cultural matters within the province, and labour market development and training. In addition, to ensure the two levels of government work in harmony, the government of Canada commits to negotiate agreements with the provinces in areas such as immigration, regional development and telecommunications. Federal-provincial agreements on any subject could be protected by the Constitution from unilateral change.

Distinct Society

As was the case in the Meech Lake agreement, the new Canadian Constitution would recognize the distinct nature of Quebec, based on its French language, unique culture and civil law tradition.

In the reformed Parliament, the Senate would reflect the equality of the provinces while the House of Commons would be based more on the principle of representation by population. As well, Quebec would be assured a minimum 25% of the seats in the House of Commons.

Parliamentary Reform

The proposed Senate would be made up of six elected senators from each province and one from each territory. Additional seats would provide representation for Aboriginal peoples. The reform Senate's powers should significantly increase the role of the elected Senators in the policy process.

The proposals recognize that Aboriginal peoples have an inherent right to self-government and that the Constitution should enable them to develop self-government arrangements and to take their place in the Canadian federation. The proposals recognize Aboriginal governments as one of the three constitutionally recognized orders of government in Canada. In addition, the proposals provide for a negotiation process between Aboriginal leaders and provincial and federal governments to put this right into effect. The recognition of the inherent right would not create any new rights to land.

Aboriginal Self-Government

Now that Canada's federal, provincial, territorial and Aboriginal leaders have reached a consensus, it is the right of all Canadians to understand the new proposals. Call the toll free number below to receive an easy-to-read booklet on the new constitutional agreement or a complete text.

It's your right to know what the constitutional proposals say, before voting on October 26.

Nichol, Vuksic lead golfers in Autumn Open

Hugh Nichol and Clara Vuksic led the pack in the annual Times Autumn Open Golf Tournament played last Sunday at Haliburton Highlands Golf Course. This is the twelfth year for the autumn event which this year attracted close to 40 players.

Nichol, whose name appears on the men's trophies several times over the years, led the men's section with a score of 71 for the 18 hole event. Vuksic was first in the ladies division with an even 100 over the 18 holes.

Placing second in the men's low gross competition was Bev Billings with a 79. He beat out Brian Madill, who also carded a 79, but lost out in the tie-breaking procedure. Peter Allan was fourth with an 81 while Phil

Smith was fifth and Ron Mintz sixth. Both scored 82.

The low net was determined using the Calloway system. Stephen Smith led the men's section with Ivy Finch taking the ladies low net.

The remaining low net winners, in the order of finish, included Ken Ablett, Cuff Smith, Mac Gadway and Bob Nichol.

Most of the players made it to the amply stocked prize table to make a selection. Among the prizes were donations from Schwandt Lumber, Haliburton Highlands Golf Club, Canada Dry and The Times.

Following the day of golf, under warm and sunny skies, the players enjoyed a turkey supper at Birch Point Lodge.

Times Autumn Open trophy winners included, from the left, women's low net Ivy Finch, men's low net Stephen Smith, men's low gross Hugh Nichol, women's low gross Clara Vuksic and host Keith Stephenson.

Buying Or Selling A Used Vehicle? Here's What You Must Know.

Starting October 1, 1992, the Ontario retail sales tax you pay when you privately buy a used car, van or light truck, will be based on the purchase price or the average wholesale value, whichever is more. The average wholesale value is set using the Canadian Red Book, a well-known standard in the used vehicle business.

The tax is paid when you change the vehicle ownership at your local Driver and Vehicle Licence Issuing Office.

Some changes in ownership, such as gifts between certain family members, are tax-free with legal proof.

Starting April 1, 1993, if you want to sell your vehicle privately, you will have to buy a vehicle transfer package and give it to the buyer before the sale is completed. The package will be available at all Driver and Vehicle Licence Issuing Offices and from the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations. Consumers will benefit from information on the vehicle's history, outstanding debts on the vehicle and retail sales tax.

If you're planning to buy or sell a used vehicle privately and would like more information, call 1-800-263-7965. Telephone Device for the Deaf, call 1-800-263-7776.

Glenn Hall team captures lob ball championship

The spikes have been hung up for another year and the bats carefully tucked away in the closet. And, before the season changes, a new name has been added to the Minden Lob Ball tournament trophy.

The trophy, named in honour of Arnold Cowan who passed away earlier this year, was presented to the Glenn Hall team at the conclusion of the tournament championship game Saturday September 19. They defeated the Tom Reddering team by a 15 to 4 score to claim the hardware.

Interestingly, the Hall team finished last in the regular season play, but was able to battle back through the tournament action to secure the coveted trophy.

The tournament capped a season which began back in May and which included 12 teams and close to 250 players. The local league has grown in popularity over the years, providing an entertaining recreational activity for the adult community.

Following the tournament, the players gathered at the Cowan residence for refreshments and fellowship.

Lob ball champions

The championship team in the Minden Mixed Lob Ball tournament held September 19 included, from the left, front row, Heather Stevens, Glenn Hall, Giselle Russell, back row, Marion Gartshore, Garth Mole, Wanda Mole, Scott Moore, Kelly Moore, John Ballantyne, Eileen Simmons, Clyde Russell and Scott Gartshore. The team was presented with the Arnold Cowan memorial trophy.

Support service marks program's 20th anniversary

A celebration of the New Horizons' program 20th anniversary is being planned by the Haliburton County Home Support Services. The anniversary will include the introduction of a new active living leadership seminar.

The celebration is scheduled for October 6 at the Haliburton Legion.

Since 1972, older Canadians across the country and in Haliburton County have been voluntarily organizing and leading programs for their peers supported by funds provided through the federal New Horizons program. Virtually every community in the country has been affected by this program. This celebration will mark their achievements over the past two decades.

In addition to the celebration, the new active living leadership program is being introduced. The purpose of the program is to help keep older people healthy, active and rejuvenated. The program will enhance social and recreation programs with exercise, relaxation, eat well activities and programs that address issues on aging. The orientation seminar for this new program is set for October 30.

Individuals wishing to take part in the New Horizons' celebration or the orientation seminar, can contact Lynn Anderson at the Home Support Office at 457-2171.

Kinsmen find alternative for flooding ice car race track

The Minden Kinsmen will have an abundance of water to use on their ice track this winter without draining the municipal wells.

The club and the township will be working together on a project to pump water from a nearby creek to use on their race track at the fair grounds. This will allow the Kinsmen to continue hosting the popular ice car races throughout the winter without straining the town's limited water source.

At its September 10 meeting, Minden Council granted permission for the club to hold ice car races at the fairgrounds again this winter. However, council also stipulated that all water for the track is to be taken from a source other than the municipal system.

Last Thursday Tom Prentice approached council with several options for supplying water to the track. The options included trucking the water in or pumping it from the creek. Prentice and council agreed that pumping is the best option.

In previous years, the Kinsmen have paid the municipality for the use of the municipal water. The money they will save in this regard will be put toward the purchase of pumps and pipes. The municipality has agreed to have the roads department assist in the installation of the pipes.

The Kinsmen Ice Car Races are held every weekend throughout the winter, at the fairgrounds. Minden Reeve Bern Berry commended the club, saying the races are a valuable asset to the community, especially during these recessionary times.

Councils want county ambulance

Local ambulance service should now fall under the county's umbrella, Lutterworth is proposing by means of a resolution which is being circulated to municipalities in the Highlands.

The resolution came before Minden Council last Thursday, where it received unanimous support.

Currently, the ambulance service is managed by Minden, but council is trying to relinquish its responsibilities as soon as possible. Because this county-wide service is provided at a cost to the municipality, Minden has asked Ministry of Health to either assume control or find another manager.

The idea of having the service transferred to the county level was met with enthusiasm by Minden Council Thursday. "It would be nice if it could continue to be controlled by county people," said Deputy Reeve Lewis Stevens.

Later in the meeting, Minden Council expressed concerns about the lack of progress in its dealings with the ministry.

Lutterworth resolution says county office should be built now

Timing is right for local builders to benefit

The construction of a new county office should begin as soon as possible, a resolution from Lutterworth Township states.

The resolution, which has now been endorsed by Minden Council, is being circulated to municipalities throughout the county.

Responding to the issue Thursday, Minden Deputy Reeve Lewis Stevens said a new county office would go a long way in pulling the county together. It would put all the county facilities under one roof.

Minden councillor Grant Plooard noted that this is probably a good time to build, since the local construction trades are facing the prospect of another bleak winter. "There are a lot of builders out there in need of something large like the county building," he said.

Minden's Reeve also endorsed the resolution. Bern Berry, who sits on county council, said it is a good idea, but it may face strong opposition at the county level.

High stepping

Cast members of the Highlands Little Theatre production of Camelot were put through their paces Monday evening by choreographer Barrie Wood, right. The Broadway musical will be presented in five performances in late November and early December.

Camelot

Rehearsals heat up for promising play

Opening night is just two months away and rehearsals for the production of the Broadway musical Camelot are now in full swing. The tight schedule began in early September and will continue through to late November. Everyone involved in the production has his eye on the opening night date of November 27.

At the moment the cast members are gathering two nights a week for rehearsals. The first session involves dance rehearsal. Under the careful leadership of professional dancer Barrie Wood, the actors are threading their way through an intricate series of steps, which they have been promised, will become choreography.

The second evening each week is spent in line and music rehearsal. Under director Curtis Eastmure, assistant Heather Scully and music director Melissa Stephens, the cast is working its way through the production scene by scene. The principals have all but mastered the songs from the Broadway play and even now, the beautiful music of Camelot is a joy to hear.

Tickets for the Highlands Little Theatre Production are now available through the two community outlets, Paulette's Gifts in Haliburton and The Storeroom in Minden.

The seating for all five productions of the play is reserved, so those wishing to attend are advised to secure their places early. The musical opens Friday November 27 and continues Saturday evening November 28 and the following Sunday afternoon for its only matinee. The final two performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday evening December 4 and 5.

All evening performance seats are $9. The Sunday matinee will have a general admission price of $7 with students and seniors paying $5.

Police chase ends near Kinmount

A high-speed chase from Buckhorn to Kinmount last Thursday morning failed to turn up the suspects of a robbery in the Maynooth.

A white 1987 Camaro reported stolen in York Region on September 23 is believed to have been involved in a "smash and grab" entry in Maynooth, reports Bob LaFrenier of the Peterborough OPP detachment. The same vehicle is believed to have been used in an attempted break-in at the Buckhorn LCBO on September 24.

The suspect Camaro had been pursued by officers from Bancroft and Apsley during the early morning hours of September 24, following an entry in Maynooth. However, the officers lost sight of the vehicle in Burleigh Falls at about 2 a.m.

A Peterborough OPP cruiser was in Buckhorn at about 2:30 a.m. watching for the Camaro when an alarm was activated at the Buckhorn LCBO.

A white Camaro was seen leaving the area of the liquor store and when officers attempted to stop the vehicle the driver sped off.

The Camaro's driver led police on a 46-kilometer pursuit, reaching speeds of up to 180 kilometer per hour.

As the pursuit reached an area just south of Kinmount, the pursuit was terminated by authority of the communications centre supervisor.

Waterways Report

Despite running large flows from the reserve lakes in the Haliburton area, water levels declined only 2.2 per cent to 66.7 per cent in the six days to September 14. A fast decline would be about five per cent per week. The September 14 percentage represents the highest levels since 1981 for this time of year. High flows will be required for a considerable time yet, if only small weekly declines can be achieved.

Police briefs Two charged with cultivation

During the week of September 14 to 20, officers of the Minden OPP detachment investigated nine traffic accidents with two persons injured.

Thefts

Three snowmobiles were stolen in the Haliburton area.

Cash was taken from Gooderham Public School.

An aluminum boat and motor were stolen from Moose Lake.

Cigarettes were taken from Macduff Esso.

Outboard motors were stolen from Koshlong and Salerno Lakes.

Weapons charges

William Mueller, 41, of Stanhope Township, has been charged with weapons offences as well as assault and death threats.

He was arrested after police received reports of gun shots on September 15. He was held for a bail hearing at Lindsay where he was released on recognizance.

ing at Lindsay where he was released on recognizance.

Hydroponic pot

Two unrelated hydroponic operations were shut down by police in the last two weeks for growing marijuana.

An operation on Trooper Lake was found with over 300 marijuana plants. Hugh McAuley, 35, was charged with Cultivation of marijuana and possession of a narcotic for the purpose of trafficking. He is also charged with possession of a restricted weapon.

Another operation in the Gooderham area was found with less than 12 plants. Brian Noseworthy, 24, has been charged with cultivation and is due to appear in court in October.

Local boys enliven home with song, music

Saturday, September 12, our afternoon was enlivened by the music of Billy Brown and Scott Gartshore playing guitars and violin and singing. We enjoyed them greatly. Many thanks and come again.

After the music, Jackie Yateman, May and Roy Cameron took me for a drive and then had dinner here at Hyland Crest with me.

Sunday Chapel Service was conducted by Rev. John Burgess and Alice Jones on the organ. Thanks John and Alice.

Monday afternoon, Residents Council was held in the Auditorium at 2 p.m. The meeting commenced by singing "O Canada." The minutes were read by Nora Groves followed by a talk by Phyllis Hiltz-Bontje explaining how it is everyone's duty to look for ways of bettering our home no matter how well it seems, it can always be improved. Our Administrator, Rheta Jones, gave her report on the progress of the tub room. Reports were given and discussed.

Movies were shown Tuesday evening instead of Monday. The movies were "Among Other Things", "Animals of Australia" and "All Ears to the Gaspe" shown by Allan Rice. Thanks Allan.

Wednesday, Doris took a bus load of residents to Mark's Restaurant for Chinese food if we wished it. Whatever we had, we enjoyed it very much. We were aided by very helpful volunteers, Fred and Bess, Dottie Muirhead, Jean Robson and Helen Donaldson and Doris keeping us all in order. Sincere thanks to everyone.

In the evening, Pastor Murray and members held a service in the Trillium Lounge. Thank you Pastor Murray. Wednesday evening, I had the pleasure of the company of my niece Emily LaRue, her daughter Chantal and her son Chase. They took

by Winnifred Barnum

me to South Lake to find where the LaRue mill site used to be.

This week, congratulations on their birthdays to Garnet Ash - September 14, Annie Jones - September 15 and Mary Currah - September 18.

Thursday Tea Party was provided and served by ladies of the Hyland Crest Auxiliary under short notice. They are always prepared to do what is needed - Nancy Cook, Joanne Graham, Pearl Durant, Doris Hart and Wynn Newbury served a delicious tea and we thank them heartily.

It was a pleasant surprise when Troy and Nancy Briggs came to call bingo for us with their five-week-old daughter, Kendra. Brandon Jarvis and Valerie Patterson were here giving help wherever needed. Thanks to everyone. We certainly appreciate them. I sincerely regret making an error in Cathy Thomas' name when I reported her name the night she called bingo for us.

September 18th was Happy Hour with host and hostesses Don Holden, Ellen Holden, Mary Guillemin and Dottie Muirhead. The entertainment was by John Dickinson's Clogg Dancers from West Guilford. John Dickinson is their leader. Only part of the cloggers were present. The dancers were Bonnie MacAusland, Danny Koz and Mari Simms. Danny looked to be about 13 and he can really dance. They were all exceptionally good. Keep dancing and come again when you can. Thanks to all who helped to make a success of Happy Hour.

Ministry invites public comment on proposed changes to Trees Act

The Ontario government is considering recommendations to change the provincial Trees Act so that all municipalities would have the option to enact bylaws to protect trees.

The Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) will welcome comments from the public about the recommended changes until September 30.

"The existing legislation is 45 years old," said Natural Resources Minister Bud Wildman. "The municipalities have told us they need stronger legislation and we want to know how the public feels about some of the options available."

The current Trees Act allows certain levels of municipi-pal government to pass by-laws, but many are excluded.

"There is no intention of controlling a landowner's use of his or her property for producing Christmas trees, fruit farming, growing trees for landscaping or managed woodlots, but I agree that there should be ways to prevent indiscriminate cutting," said Wildman.

The proposed changes are not intended to prevent anyone from cutting trees on their own property for personal use according to good forestry practice, or from improving forested land by thinning or removing diseased trees.

Municipalities are allowed by existing legislation to pass tree-cutting bylaws. Amendments to the Trees Act would permit local municipalities to continue to do this, and would allow municipalities the flexibility to frame their bylaw in a way that best suits situations in their local community.

The Trees Bylaw Advisory Committee, with members drawn from the Association of Municipalities of Ontario and the province, suggested a number of changes to the act, including one that would let municipalities operate a permit system to oversee certain types of tree cutting in their areas.

"Increasingly the province is coming to realize that it's time to cut the apron strings. Municipalities are equipped, prepared and eager to have control over their own destinies and that includes the control over tree cutting within their communities," said Kingston Mayor Helen Cooper, President of the Association of Municipalities of Ontario.

"Municipal councillors are very accessible to the public. If there's a complaint from a concerned citizen about the cutting of a single tree or the clearcutting of a woodlot, and believe me it happens, the municipal councillor is the first to get the call. We are held directly accountable by our constituents. The time for this legislation has come and municipalities are ready for it," Mayor Cooper said.

Changes to the Trees Act could prevent misuse of wooded land by allowing councils, in certain circumstances, to require that permits be obtained before cutting trees or to issue stop-work orders. A user-friendly appeal system would be made possible at the local level.

Good forestry practices would be encouraged by incorporating a definition of this activity into the legislation. The Ministry of Natural Resources would assist municipalities by training staff so they would understand what good forestry practices entail. MNR staff would also be available to provide expert technical assistance.

Private woodlands constitute about 15 percent of Ontario's total forested land. Half these lands are in southern Ontario, where there are pressures to change the way land is used.

Legion is kept busy

by Georgina Weeks
Public Relations

The Beaverton Zone convention was a great success. We had a good turnout from Branch 636 with the outcome being that we will have the Zone Drumhead here in Minden in June or July next year.

Cemetery decoration day could have been better attended. Many thanks to Jerry Campbell and Pat McMurter for putting the luncheon on after the parade.

There will be a pub night October 24, with fish and chips being served. The price will be $5 or $6 with extra fish. Tickets will be sold at our General Meeting and again on October 17 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., or call Lois Adamson at 286-4526.

Trivia Night is October 21. Cub also needs a volunteer for November 18, call 286-1214.

A notice to all cottagers: if you have any non-perishable food left, the food bank at St. Paul's Anglican Church would appreciate it very much. Thank you.

Richard Noble will be conducting a seminar for the Last Post Burial Fund Benefit at the branch, October 17 at 10:30 a.m. for veterans.

Charter Night proved to be a great success with a lovely meal presented by the L.A. Thank you very much ladies.

Don't forget Poppy Day is approaching. "We Will Remember Them." Jack Sykes is looking for volunteers, please call 489-3465.

The Blue Beret (newsletter) is now in the legion lobby. Please pick up a copy. I would like at this time to thank Sharon Sykes and Terry Campbell for all of their help in putting it out. The next one will be out sometime in December, so please, if you have any suggestions, ideas, etc., leave them for me in my mail at the legion.

Don't forget this is legion week, come in and have a chat with your comrades.

Alex Godin is in Toronto for an operation. We wish him a speedy recovery.

At Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, on Sunday, September 20, 1992. Perry Kimble of R.R. #1 Blackstock in his 34th year. Beloved husband of Kelly (Morris). Dear father of Jamie Lee and Cody Kimble. Dear son of Alf and Wanita Kimble of R.R. #3 Woodville and son-in-law of Harold and Ruth Morris of R.R. #4 Fergus. Dear grandson of Doris Schell of R.R. #3 Bobcaygeon and the late George Schell and the late Levi and Elizabeth Kimble. Dear brother of Beverley (Mrs. Tim Curry) of Port Perry, Shannon (Mrs. Harold Porter) of Sudbury and Joshua Kimble at home. Dear uncle of Amanda Curry. Also survived by many aunts and uncles. Funeral service was held at the Illman-Platten Funeral Home, Fenelon Falls, on Tuesday, September 22 at 1:30 p.m. Interment Minden Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

MISCIO, MIKE; A dear father and grandfather who passed away September 25, 1972. What I'd give if I could say, Hello popo in the same old way, To hear your voice, and see your smile, To sit with you and chat awhile. So you who have a father, Cherish him with care, For you'll never know the heartache, Till you see his vacant chair. Sadly missed and always remembered, daughter Nell and family.

MISCIO, MIKE; In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away September 25, 1972. Loving and kind in all his ways, Upright and just to the end of his days, Sincere and kind in heart and mind, What a beautiful memory he left behind. Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by his wife Annie and daughter Vera.

IN MEMORIAM

HARRISON: In loving memory of my parents, Laura who passed away September 29, 1984 and Dave who passed away June 17, 1980. As time unfolds another year, Memories keep you ever near. Silent thoughts of times together, Hold memories that will last forever. Fondly remembered by son Harold.

HARRISON: In loving memory of a dear sister and brother-in-law: Laura passed away September 29, 1984. Dave passed away June 17, 1980. Memories are like thread of Gold, They never tarnish or grow old, As you were, you'll always be, Cherished forever in our memory. Sadly missed by sister Annie, Mae and brother Earnest and sister-in-law Grace.

HARRISON: In loving memory of a dear sister-in-law, Laura who passed away September 29, 1984 and also a dear brother-in-law, Dave who passed away June 17, 1980. Resting where no shadows fall, In peaceful sleep they wait us all, God will link the broken chain, When one by one we will meet again. Lovingly remembered by sister-in-law, Alice.

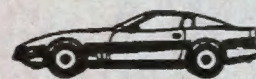

ROCHFORD, AUDREY; In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother who passed away September 29, 1991. Audrey of mine so dear, so true, Over and over I say to you, The words we love you Audrey dear, How can we still make it more clear. Love, Murray, Candy, Bruce and family.
